American Computer Services, Inc.

Privacy Policy

Version: 1.00
Revised: February 21, 2024

Privacy Policy

American Computer Services Inc. (ACS) is committed to securing your data and keeping it confidential. The following discloses our information gathering and dissemination practices for our website, www.acs-team.com and for our Partner sites.

ACS intend to give you as much control as possible over your personal information. In general, you can visit ACS on the Web without telling ACS who you are or revealing any information about yourself. There are times, however, when ACS may need information from you, such as your name, e-mail address and/or home address. It is ACS' intent to let you know before we collect personal information from you.

ACS reserves the right to change this policy at any given time. If you want to make sure that you are up to date with the latest changes, we advise you to frequently visit this page.

Highlighted topics:
› What data is collected
› What we do with the information we gather and track
› Business Partners
› Promotions
› Security
› Remove from mail
› Contacting the website

What Data Is Collected

When you visit the ACS website, we may collect the following information:

- Your IP address.
- Your contact information and email address.
- Other information such as interests and preferences.
- Data regarding your online behavior on our website.

What We Do with the Information We Gather and Track

The Information gathered from the forms you fill out is used in one or more of the following ways:

- To provide you with information about products, services, news and events.
- To allow you to use, purchase, and/or download products and services.
- To gather broad demographic information about user trends.

Business Partners

This website may contain links to other sites not associated with ACS. ACS is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such sites.

If you choose to give ACS personal information via the Internet that ACS, or our business partners may need – to correspond with you, process an order, or provide you with a subscription, for example – it is ACS' intent to let you know how this information will be used. If you inform ACS that you do not wish to have this information used as a basis for further contact with you, ACS will respect your wishes. ACS does keep track of the domains from which people visit the ACS website. ACS analyzes this data for trends and statistics, and then ACS discards it.

Promotions

ACS runs promotions in which we ask visitors for contact information (such as e-mail address). ACS uses contact information from our promotions to send users information about ACS as well as to contact the visitor when necessary. Users may opt-out of receiving future mailings; see the Remove from Mail section below.

Security

This website has security measures in place to protect the loss, misuse and alteration of the information under ACS control. ACS has done all in its power to prevent data theft, unauthorized access, and disclosure by implementing the latest technologies and software, which help us safeguard all the information we collect online.

Remove from Mail

The ACS website provides users the opportunity to opt-out of receiving communications from either ACS or our partners at the point where we request information about you, the visitor. This website gives users the following options for removing your information from the ACS database. To not receive future communications or to no longer receive our service, you can send an e-mail to info@acs-team.com with "unsubscribe" in the subject line.

Contacting the Web Site

If you have any questions about this privacy statement, the practices of this site, or your dealings with this website, you can contact:

Webmaster
American Computer Services, Inc.

15920 Hickman Rd. Ste 400 PMB 436
Clive, IA 50325
info@acs-team.com